

WHAT FAMILIES WANT OTHER FAMILIES TO KNOW ABOUT EARLY INTERVENTION FOR BABIES & TODDLERS

Are you a practitioner supporting babies or toddlers with developmental delay or disability and their families?

Are you a community organisation providing programs for families who may have a baby or toddler with a disability?

EarlyEd has received a grant for a short-term project that will help us to collect family stories and collate this information into a Family Centred Framework of Practice for Early Intervention For Babies.

EarlyEd is looking to bring together families, ECI practitioners and community members to collaborate on a project focussing on the needs of families when a baby has a disability or delay in their development.

The innovative project will use a collaborative, family centred approach by partnering with families, practitioners and community members in:

- The design of the project
- Creating a family centred framework for use by early intervention practitioners and community services
- Creating relevant, family friendly resources for families that are beginning the early intervention journey.

Our initial design meeting will take place Wednesday 30 May. To be involved in this innovative project contact Liz Ryan on lryan@earlyed.com.au / (02) 9897 1511
