

Is your child starting school soon?

Ready to Learn Together

Here are some tips to get ready.

Together supporting children... Starting early!

Practice wearing school clothes

Children who are independent and can look after themselves when they start school are ready to learn.

SCHOOL CLOTHES CAN FEEL STRANGE.

School clothes can feel strange at first.

Let children practice putting on their school clothes, so they are able to:

- Get used to the feel of different shirts, shorts, dresses, and shoes
- Learn how to move, run, sit, and play in them.

To become independent, children need to manage their own clothes.

They need to be able to put on shoes, zip up jackets and do up buttons.
